It was a trip I'll never forget. When I was about 10 years old my parents decided to go on a ~~trip~~ road trip, a very challenging road trip I should say. We were going to travel around Europe for 3 months using our car. Can you imagine that?

Well, I couldn't until I woke up to the sound of mother's voice: "Sweetie, put on your warmest coat because we're leaving to have the most bewildering experience of our lives." That is how our journey began.

Weeks passed by. Nothing captured my attention. I was ignorant to all the fancy castles and museums we had been visiting. I lost track of time until that day. It was the end of August, the finish line of our family trip. One evening our car broke. We were alone ~~at~~ somewhere in the middle of a field at night. My heart was ~~beat~~ pounding. For a moment I thought: "This is the most awful journey of my life". Lost in my thoughts I didn't notice my parents leaving the car. My mother was sitting on the grass wearing jeans and a t-shirt with a huge scarf on her shoulders. My father was standing near her in his favorite bright-colored cap. They were smiling with pure joy. It was the most captivating and breath-taking moment of my life. It ~~was~~ was so bizarre but that exact moment I felt my family being united like never before.

Everything ended well. However, I will remember this trip ~~for that happiness and joy~~ ^{for that moment as} in ordinary moments spent with the ones you love.
